Belle Glade's police force of five men are being decked out in new uniforms, brass buttons, caps, etc. Chief Parrish and his men will look like policemen and we should be proud of their appearance. C. H. Carlton is assistant chief; Roy T. Howell, B. J. Buxton and W. H. Cochran are the patrolmen.

Just hold your shirts on about the water. The pump is here and the motor is on the way; the power line is being run to the pump house on the dyke. Just as soon as the motor arrives you may expect to have lake water shortly thereafter.

Growing pains are a constant incentive to Belle Glade citizens for improvements. Traffic lights are one of the lesser, but nevertheless, important ones. Several wrecks have occurred recently at intersections. Common sense and practical regulations will undoubtedly be necessary in the very near future.

Sewage disposal will give us a serious and imperative thought some morning before most moons. When, and if, the Health Department comes along with orders half the septic tanks out of commission, it'll be a little late. What sense change general order around the town to what is distinctly not orange blossoms. A few deer of typhoid or other diseases will be "Katy did" right quick.

Don't scratch your head and damn the Commission. It's your problem and any constructive thoughts will pay dividends. Other communities have solved it, why can't we?

Quality Vegetables Demanded By Public

Lifting Florida's winter vegetable industry to the production and shipment of such varieties as cannot fail to meet the discriminating post war requirements of military in the home markets, is the objective of a program being projected by the Florida Vegetable Committee. LaMonte Graw, committee manager, outlined the factors which the end of the war emergency have precipitated on the industry and which necessitate a drastic about-face from the speed-up tempo of the wartime demand. Supply and demand, he said, are still the chief factors in the marketing of fresh vegetables, and the grower and shipper should realistically consider this fact when planning, harvesting and shipping their commodities to market.

"Too many growers and shippers seem to believe that wartime demand still exists," Graw said. "They are shipping vegetables which are not of the highest quality. This was often necessary during the war period when the nation was in need of fresh foodstuffs, but cannot be justified in the face of the present demand for quality produce."

Before the war great strides had been made in the direction of quality improvement both in the product and its handling. (Continued on page 3)

The new road gives the big colony growing firm direct access from its farm to the local packing houses.

The U. S. E. B., which has had a small office in the Sanders building for the past six months, has moved into larger quarters in the same building, having taken over the two rooms formerly occupied by the Glades Cattleman's Association and the Haneey, Incorporated. The Haneey's take over of the room which the U. S. E. B. formerly occupied, in other words, means an exchange of offices.

Land Owners Want And Are Demanding The Protection Of Dikes

By Mrs. G. J. Barstow
The hurricane of 1928 and resultant loss of life and property at the south end of Lake Okechobee was a tragedy of sufficient magnitude as to make it clear, if the upper Everglades were to be developed, some measures must be taken to prevent a recurrence of this catastrophe. At that time the villages of South Bay, Belle Glade and Lake Harbor were to all intents and purposes abandoned as had been the case with Moore Haven and Clewiston in the storm of 1926.

The national interest accordingly was attracted to this area. President elect, Herbert Hoover, engineer of the canal project, had a reputation, made a survey of the region and later as chief executive was instrumental in pushing the plan for the government dike that now surrounds the lake on the west, east and south sides to protect the rich farming lands and communities.

Women Work Out Fines On Streets

Over week ends the city police usually pick up quite a congregation of colored people, who have violated the city ordinances, mostly ordinances 5 and 8, namely drunkenness, and assault and battery. Some of the victims cannot pay the fines assessed by Police Magistrate Taylor, so get a chance to work out their assessment on street labor. Mostly the women have friends who pay them out. However, the past week, there were a half dozen women who had no friends at hand to aid them. As a result they were seen sweeping up the debris of the streets along with the colored men.

School Enrollment Up

Palm Beach County's school enrollment shows a big advance over last year, according to Supt. John O. Leonard. The school enrollment shows 12,489, as against 11,574 there in 1942-43 school year, and 3,624 colored children enrolled.

Ocala County Heads The List

Ocala County, in which Kissimmee and St. Cloud are the principal cities, was the first county in the state to report over the top with its Victory Loan quota. As in the seven previous bond campaigns a large number of citizens participated. In the integrity contest, the Soldier City people over-subscribed those of the Cow Capital City.

Rams Winner In Poorly Played Game

If the playing of the Rams Wednesday night against the Delray Beach team is a sample of the filter through and get the Rams, we suggest that the school band learn a funeral march for the December 7th game. It'll be needed.

Blocking was practically all-offside and penalties helped Delray. Two backfield men of Delray didn't make Belle Glade feel any easier. There seemed to be an indifferent and over confident attitude.

Belle Glade's line, than which there aren't any in comparable high school teams, let the opponent's line through and got the runner before he could get started, failure to block out the secondary interrupted at least half the runs tagged as touchdowns by the fast dodging Belle Glade backs. Our backfield line filter through and got the ball was "something they do."

Our boys looked like a football team until the ball was in play, and then they were catchers of good football, but Cherry looked as about 75 per cent of first.

Dwight Rogers Gets Action On Crippled Children's Building For This Area

Several Minor Car Accidents

Police report several small auto accidents over the week end, the most serious being on North Main street, near Bill Pierce's hotel, between two cars. Occupants of the car were cut out of the car and the car pretty badly wrecked. A large semi-trailer, loaded with beans, left the road and turned over on its side at Vinegar Bend. No one injured and truck but slightly damaged.

Early Action Indicated On Legion's Request For Building

Mayor George Taylor, as President of the Community Center, and a committee met with Mr. John Conyers of the regional office of National Housing Administration, who was acting for the Surplus Commodity Board by special permission Sunday to facilitate the proper application for a building 25 by 125 feet, formerly used as a hospital in Camp Murphy.

Several months ago a committee from the Legion visited Murphy with Joe Freedlund, local contractor, and picked out a building that seems to answer the needs of the Community for a Crippled Children's Clinic and a clinic for white people.

The Legion has a site which it is offering and has agreed to sponsor the moving of the building to Belle Glade and its erection.

The Lions Club has undertaken to furnish and sponsor a clinic for whites in cooperation with the County, State and Federal health officials, in a part of the same building.

The local Rotary urged the operation of the Children's Clinic. The Rotary is to supplement the $1200 now on hand towards an operating fund.

Other organizations in the community have indicated approval of various items needed to furnish the clinic.

The building selected has several rooms aside from the main ward room, several baths and toilets and a kitchen. The floor is linoleum covered over plywood, and before the salvaged floor was laid at the building it was fully furnished with modern equipment and plumbing.

The original building was steam heated and equipped with a heating system.

It is estimated that the building can be saved into appropriate lengths and moved by truck to the site here and erected almost as good as new.

Dr. Harris of the Migratory Bird Commission stressed the necessity of such a building and the great need for both children's work and a general clinic were outlined by the (Continued on Page 5)

By John M. Gladhill

The delegation of Everglades vegetable farmers who attended the conference at Orlando, last week, at which the Hon. Clinton D. Anderson, National Sec'y of Agriculture was guest of honor and speaker of the day, came home mightily pleased and impressed with the man and what he had to say along agricultural lines, as they related to Florida.

QUALITY VEGETABLES

(Continued from page 2) Graw explained. Wartime demand and OPA pricing regulations have wiped out the results of years of educational work. The public has become more conscious of the quality factor of fresh foodstuffs, he continued, and will be more critical in the future, with a readiness to turn to frozen and canned products when fresh vegetables are not of a quality and price that meet the housewife's needs.

The Florida Vegetable Committee, Graw stated, "is continuing its work on the development of non-trading plans which will permit a wider distribution of Florida products, and a better consumer acceptance. We hope before long to be able to inaugurate a series of packaging experiments along practical lines, but this work will have little value if growers and shippers fail to confine their shipments to products of highest quality, particularly during periods of heavy supply."

won the Great American, the East View and the Saratoga Special, and was second to Assault in the Flash and Air Horse in the United States Hotel Stakes last summer at the New York tracks.

Last winter at Hialeah, the colt which was bred by Thomas E. Bragg on the Bragg Long Island farm, trained as a speed horse and was used until later he showed signs of being able to run a distance.

Healy reaffirmed his faith in the colt when he named him as a router by nominating him for Chicago's big 3-year-old the Arlington Classic and the American Derby.

"And I never run in the Middle West," the trainer said. Race charts confirm Healy's reports of the colt's laziness. Only under strong urging in the colt has Mr. Goldbrick woken up and run. Once in nine starts he was out of the money, and that was when the jockey waited too long to go to the post.

His record shows four first, two seconds and two thirds for the nine tries.

After taking the Saratoga Special, which in the past has been won by such racers as Bimble, Blue Larkspur and Whirlaway, in August Mist O'Hara was turned out on the track for a rest. The vacation helped his physical condition, it is his mental attitude, and training, since arriving at Hialeah, has been satisfactory.

Mr. Goldbrick may have a strong running mate in the 3-year-old events. Healy reports, "I helped his mental attitude, and training, since arriving at Hialeah, has been satisfactory. that it can evolve a program which will stabilize the marketing of Florida vegetables. Such a program must have the full cooperation of all producers and shippers to succeed."

Graw indicated that the deterioration in quality was not a deliberate one, but was the result of wartime conditions, poor labor and equipment, and a lack of good cooperation between producers, distributors and retailers.

Until each handler of fresh foodstuffs from the farm to the consumer works toward the common goal, he said, the producer will be handicapped, as premium quality vegetables often reach the consumer in bad shape due to improper handling en route.

NAVAL VESSEL ON HAND FOR USE OF ISLAND FARMERS

The PTL boat which the Navy loaned to the island farmers to aid them in transporting their crops to market, has arrived at the Stein farm on the lake, after considerable trouble and delay in reaching its destination.

The boat was procured to fa-facilitate the loading and moving of the vegetables to the port at the dock. The farmers who will benefit by this boat service are most appreciative of the manner in which the government came to their aid in time of need, and will use the boat to the best possible advantage. Until the vessel is fitted up, the farmers are using a seine boat to carry their vegetables, which now are beans, egg plants and peppers.

Water conditions, so far as they relate to the island road, have not changed, and work has ceased in endeavor to get the highway in a passable and usable condition.

our team in the game Wednesday night—he wasn't there.

The final score was 7-0 in our favor, but should have been 35-0.

The Junior Golden Rams journeyed to Palokoke Tuesday night where they went up against the Blue Devil Junior team, which was their last game of the present football season, and they won by a score of 35-0. The team has played seven games and were victors in five, lost one and tied one, which is not a bad record at all. Starting under an earlier season game, the Blue Devils tried their best to get a win this time, but it was not in the books to be so, for the Rams were master of the field play at all times. Only once did the Brown lads come near the Belle Glade scoring line.

"Pappy" Cunningham sat back in the bleachers with a broad smile on his face, as he saw his son Roger get a win and do his stuff, and all the lad did was to captain the team, do some excellent field play and score four of the five touchdowns. Warren and "Jim Buck" Lettis also complemented his good work by some of their passing and scoring a touchdown, and Lettis intercepting passes, as Palokoke specialized in this type of attack to gain ground.

Around 500 fans were out to see the game, and enjoyed it very much, and while not as exciting or well played as "A" team games, the boys put their soul in the game, and as a result there were plenty of spectacular pile-ups on the field.

Early Celery Shipment

Hull Brothers, of Palokoke and Zellwood, sent some celery in both locations this week, which is reported as the first celery to be shipped out of the Glades area this season. The pack was not large but of very excellent quality. The firm expects to continue cutting next week. The early celery is said to have been a special commission for a patron desiring it for the Thanksgiving day feast trade.

WHEAT ISLANDS MEAN

granted a similar security.
The island people, believing in the value of their land and confident that their rights to develop their farm lands and live upon their homesteads would be given a similar protection from lake flooding, watched the building of the big dike and looked forward to the day when the islands too would be diked for their protection. In fact, it was tacitly understood that the government would dike the islands once the mainland had been protected.

The big dike was finished years passed and nothing was done for the protection of the islands from high water. The islands became the forgotten lands of the Everglades. Various attempts were made during these years to get some action but in spite of private pleas and public hearings they all came to naught.

Rittia Island just off the mainland of Rittia and Lake Harbor, some 600 acres in extent, which had been developed in pioneer times by the Forbes family and other hardy pioneer times by the Forbes neers until it blossomed as the rose with farms, homes, patrons. Extensive plantings of avocado's, and other tropical fruits and ornamentals sufficed and so much with recurring floods that everyone gradually moved to the mainland, president plantings and buildings disappeared and the land was eventually practically all acquired by two growers, B. Y.
Crech and C. E. Thomas.

In 1941 Mr. Thomas and Mr. Crech decided that since the hope of government help was imminent, they would have to protect their investment.
Accordingly, they had a permanent dike built, entirely around the island, dividing the costs between them according to the respective lengths of their lake shore lines. The dike was built upon the meanderline to include the riparian lands within the dike.

The two growers then dug drainage ditches, laterals and mole drained the entire island, installing pumping units to give water control at all times. Last year during a severe and prolonged drought which cut mainland production to a minimum these pumps were operated to pump water from the lake to irrigate the island land. Mr.
Crech states that he shipped 40,000 packages of tender vegetables during the season from his Rittia farms, the largest crop he had ever grown on the island and that the quality of his products was uniformly excellent.

This year with the conditions reversed, the lake level at 17 plus as against 12.5 last spring, the dike has not only protected the island during and since the fall storm but it is withstanding the high lake level and wind tides. The pumps are now pumping off excess water and the water table on the farming land is at all times under perfect control, he said. The two growers look forward to a bumper crop on the islands regardless of weather conditions.

Kreamer Island, Little Kre-amer and Torrey Islands, also just into the lake by the big dike have suffered through the years by excessive water and floods caused by high lake levels and wind tides. These islands are much larger than Rittia, comprising in all some 3,000 acres. The land is still owned and operated by quite a number of different farmers.

Some of the original islanders after suffering huge losses have given it up and moved away. Others have clung to the land they either homesteaded or bought from the government and settled with such high hopes in the by-gone days. Still others have retained ownership but have leased their holdings to others.

The fact that there are so many individual owners, many of whom cannot afford the price of a dike to protect their lake boundaries, makes it extremely difficult for the land owners to finance such a dike as has been thrown up around Rittia. The bigger operators may be able to afford a dike to protect their farming tract, but so long as the dike is not an unbroken dike that entirely surrounds the three islands it can never be entirely satisfactory or give the water control now existing on Rittia Island.

Growers on Kreamer and Torrey Islands this year are laboring under almost insurmountable handicaps. Not only is almost all of the unbroken age too wet to farm; but the island County Road which is the only outlet to the mainland and which was built as a part of the County Road system to give every farmer and resident on the three islands a means of transportation to the mainland and markets at Belle Glade, has been impossible for weeks. Practically all the growers on Torrey Island whether protected by farm dikes or not have been forced to abandon any hopes of farming until the lake level falls.
Growers on considerable acreage such as Fritz Stein and J.
S. Wilson on Kreamer have dikes to protect their crops; but are finding it impossible to get their crops to market by any other means than by water transportation.

The islanders feel that, since since their present plight is primarily due to the dike around the lake and closed outlets which holds the lake level at a point which momentarily threatens to entirely submerge the islands by result of any prolonged wind tide, it is not too much to expect some relief from public or government sources. They feel that in protecting the mainland the islands have been damaged and that they are due some relief.

The original idea was to dike the islands at public expense.
If that is not now feasible and to date it has not been acceptable, a counter plan is now proposed. Namely that the government build an adequate dike to enclose Kreamer, Little Kre-amer and Torrey Islands and that the cost of the dike be paid wholly or in part by the land owners in proportion to their acreage, with payments arranged on a long term basis to be paid in special assessments each year until the entire cost has been liquidated.
It may be pointed out that the islands have never been assessed drainage taxes since they are not in any drainage district and their present taxes are nominal. Consequently the dike assessment, if spread over a term of years, could be met without too much hardship by all land owners.

It has been a long established principle of private property ownership that a man's house is his castle and that no infringement on or detriment to his property may be permitted even for the public welfare and by government agencies without due compensation for the loss of or detriment to his property.

In this case of the island lands, the island owners feel that their property has been subject to undue hazards without due compensation; that the mainland has gained security by the building of the government dike, whereas they have lost security in that the natural hazards have been immeasurably increased by that same dike.

It has been suggested, perhaps facetiously, that the government buy up the island lands, pay the owners to release their property rights and move off leaving the islands to Lake Okerechoe to the birds. If this were poor land or even ordinary land that might be an excellent solution. The fact is that there are thousands of acres of land down in the Glades with soil so thin and poor that it would not do for farming but which would still be an excellent bird and wild life preserve. Why waste the richest and most frost proof land in the Glades by turning it into a wild life preserve?

The island lands make excellent pasturage for fattening cattle and a number of island people, unable to farm due to high water tables, have resorted to cattle feeding either on the year around basis or as an easy method of picking up cash during the summer months when no farming is in progress. Here again, one must point out that land so used is not being utilized to the best advantage.
Again there are thousands of acres of Glades land too cold for mid-winter vegetable culture which can be easily turned into excellent pasture lands.

The islands have a rich deep fertile muck soil and the lake breezes make them so nearly irrot proof that they should be used to produce tender tropical fruits, vegetables and spices all the year around. Types and varieties which perhaps can not be grown successfully anywhere else in continental United States might easily be made to flourish on the islands. With an adequate dike surrounding the islands and perfect water control, it could easily be turned into a tropical paradise and be made to produce an unbelievable wealth of winter grown fruit and vegetables.

Er Forbes on Rittia Island once had a ten acre tract of bearing avocado trees for which he was offered $10,000 cash.
He refused that offer because he felt his grove worth many times that figure. He had it protected by a small dike and pump on an experimental scale.
In time of flood his system proved inadequate and he lost his grove. Now, however, the dike and pumping systems have been perfected and such a grove would bring the owner huge returns. A 40 acre grove on the north end of Kreamer Island suffered the same fate. With proper dike and drainage protection the islands could be planted to avocado's, bananas and many other tropical fruits and ornamentals to yield a splendid profit.

Since the dike on Rittia was built one grower realized a net return of $225.00 per acre on one crop on his island tract when a mid-winter crop came off at a time when all competing mainland sections had been flooded out. Given the proposed dike around Kreamer, Little Kreamer and Torrey Islands, now comprising 3,000 acres and with some 1,000 to 1,500 acres additional marginal land which would be enclosed within the dike, one can really visualize the potential wealth in comparison with the size of the islands which would be assured.

The returns on the added marginal land alone would soon pay for the entire cost of the proposed dike.

What Goes Up... Must Come Down!

YES, and the higher it soars, the harder it falls!
That, in a nutshell, is the logic of inflation.

Pay more than a thing is worth, just because it's scarce, and it's going to cost more to produce that article than it's worth. Get a lot of people bidding senselessly for scarce items, and the vicious spiral begins. Wages and prices soar higher and higher until your day's pay is literally worth less than a plugged nickel.

Then, inevitably, the bottom drops out of the whole thing... wages, prices, and values explode ... and economic, political, and social ruin is the result. It happened in Germany after the last war.
It can happen here!

Let's head off inflation before it gets started!
Let's not pay a penny more than any article is worth, and let's all abide by ceiling prices.

And let's not buy a lot of stuff we don't really need. Let's wait until full reconversion brings us our choice of new improved merchandise... the very best our money can buy.

Let's keep our feet on the ground... and our pocketbooks, too!

More Trouble

The growers on Ritta Island are having considerable difficulty getting in and out of the lake at Lake Harbor due to the fact that there is an 18 inch head of water in the partially opened hurricane gate causing the water to flow through the gate with the speed of a mill race, whenever there is a wind tide. R. Y. Creech Farms attempt ing to negotiate the gate with a tug and barge one day last week, had the barge sunk by the cataract of water at the gate opening. This gate is the only means of ingress and egress to Lake Harbor from the island.

The needle dam at the Miami Locks was taken out some seven years ago, according to Mr. Creech, and never replaced. Some four years ago, he said, the U. S. Sugar Corporation took the plans comprising the needle dam to Canal Point for use in the canal there. Consequently without the needle dam to hold up the head of water from the lake and with the gate opened to full capacity the flow of water down the Miami Canal would soon engulf hundreds of acres of farming land below the locks and as far distant as Okelanta.

Mr. Creech has attempted to get the needle dam replaced in order to permit the hurricane gates to be fully opened. Getting no action from the Everglades Drainage District officials, J. E. Beasley and Turner Wallis last week wired Governor Caldwell, pointing out that the hurricane gates were built to serve as a dam except in case of hurricane to prevent overflow dangerous to life and property during the hurricane season. He used his influence to get relief in the form of the needle dam. He has now received a wire in reply thanking him for calling the matter to his attention and promising to look into it immediately.

Auto Accident

Mr. and Mrs. Lester M. MacTerry were so unfortunate as to be the victims of a highway accident Saturday night on the Belle Glade-Pahokee highway just north of the Hillsborough bridge.

Mrs. MacTerry suffered a fractured jaw, a cut on the head and multiple bruises on the body. Mr. MacTerry and the other occupant of the car Mrs. Glen Bonen, also suffered from bruises, cuts and shock. Mrs. MacTerry was taken to the hospital where she remained over the weekend for treatment and observation but is now able to be at home.

Mrs. MacTerry stated that her husband was blinded by the lights of an approaching car and did not see a car which was parked in the road without lights until they were too close to avoid a collision. The driver of the other car maintained that something had gone wrong and his lights had gone out. Both cars were badly damaged both by the impact and by fire which enveloped the two cars from gas leaking from the gas tank on the parked car which was pierced in the collision. Quick action on the part of those involved in the accident and bystanders extinguished the fire before it had gained too much headway. Costs of the vehicles used in heating out the flames were a total loss.

Mail Increases

Star Route mail carrier A. H. Payne, who carries the mail from West Palm Beach to Canal Point, Pahokee, Belle Glade, South Bay, Bean City, Lake Harbor, Clewiston and intervening points, reports that the mail carried has doubled in volume in the last four years on this route. He said that in his opinion the present volume would not remain stationary but would probably double again in another four years.

Mr. Payne carried the mail on this route from 1936 to 1940 and took the route over again in 1944, continuing to the present.

Among other parcel post packages he carries baby chicks.

In one day last week he had 2400 baby chicks on his mail. The largest number carried in any one day last year was 2000.

Change In Program For Old Fellows On December 2nd

Officers of Glades Lodge, No. 26, I. O. O. F., working with Deputy Grand Master H. P. Dawson, have sanctioned some changes in the program for a special dispensation session on December 2nd. To accommodate West Palm Beach lodge, and visiting delegations from the east coast, Glades lodge candidates will be taken into the lodge at Palm Beach for the degrees ceremonies which will start at 3 o'clock, and continue until completed.

West Palm Beach lodge will confer the Initiatory and Third degree, while Stuart and Ft. Lauderdale team will confer the First and Second degrees, followed by an evening meal.

Glades lodge hopes to have an addition of 25 or more card and initiatory candidates for the local lodge whose open charter will end at that time.

State Will Give Aid Toward A Health Unit

Palm Beach County is without a complete organized health unit, but considerable work has been done by various organizations in attempting to get such a setup organized and functioning, and these attempts have had the full support of Health Officer Van Landingham.

Developments of the past week gave the project a pickup, when the State Board of Health approved the County Commissioners that it would set up four district health headquarters in the state, and that one would be in Van Landingham in this move.

Van Landingham is now moving some possibility that may ultimately bring about the re-establishing of a county wide unit, working in conjunction with the county hospitals and local health commissioners. Considerable work has already been planned for the establishment of an all round medical center for negroes over in Belle Glade-Pahokee region, where such an institution is reported as most urgently needed. A site has practically been decided on, and the Negro Clinic league will donate some of its accumulated funds for the project.

New Church Organization Formed

The male members of the Community Methodist Church, have long felt the need of a men's organization, for more fruitful carrying on of the work of the church, and at last it has been formed, to be known as the "Laymen of the Community Church." The officers elected are as follows: President, George Ganas; vice-president, Ralph Kibler; secretary - treasurer, Hugh J. Bratley.

The plan is to hold a monthly dinner session at the church, and the first gathering of the club will be held on the evening of December 12th, when the church women will serve the meal. Every male member of the church is eligible to join the new club and attend its social events.

Returns To The Glades

Robert Bair, who has been away in Navy service for the past three years, has returned home with an honorable discharge. There being a vacancy on the Belle Glade Fire Department, he made application for it, and Chief E. E. Will at once placed him back at work.

This made it possible for the Chief to establish the three truck program for the department, which had been approved by the City Commission, so goes and Bair now being on duty that "Slim" Delonis, Joe Hod-

Musical Features At Gospel Tent

Sunday night marked the beginning of the sixth week of meetings at the Bible Crusade Auditorium on South Main street. In addition to the community song service and the illustrated Bible lecture there were many additional music features at this meeting.

During the song service Mr. and Mrs. Gibbs, music instructors from Miami, presented the song, "In The Garden." Another solo during the song service was "The Holy City" by Mr. H. C. Hancock. To close the meeting Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Hancock sang a beautiful duet, accompanied by Mrs. Gibbs.

THROUGH THE EYES OF A FRIEND

Customers are people. And the Telephone Company has always considered customers in that light—as individuals, like the men and women who make up our own company.

This friendly feeling, we are happy to say, is reflected in the progress that Florida and the Telephone Company made together through the years. It is this same kind of partnership that makes the future sparkle with promise.

Like Florida, the Telephone Company is buckling down to its postwar tasks. For the 5,125 men and women of the Telephone Company in this state, it means the greatest expansion program in our history in Florida. It's a full and complete program, designed to meet the state's industrial and agricultural needs of the future. It means the expenditure of millions of dollars in Florida.

Specifically, the program will provide telephones for all who have been waiting for them. This is one of our first jobs! A greatly expanded telephone program for our former friends is also in process. Expansion of long distance service is being scheduled too. It will include the installation of coaxial cables to handle more calls with speed and convenience for you, and provide more facilities for that exciting visual art—television. A mass of construction is to be done and a new service to motor vehicles is also in the offing.

Here's a program of achievement, to be worked out together by Florida and the Telephone Company as they have worked out their attainments of the past. By mutual understanding and cooperation, Florida and the Telephone Company will grow greater ever.

It's a big program that shall become a reality as fast as materials become available—a reality to be translated into prosperity and payrolls for the people of Florida. For a business is like an individual. If he fares well, his community fares well with him. And that is the way it should be, among friends.
